HEROD IS TROUBLED & THE WISE MEN REJOICED

We have lot of preparation for Christmas. The Crib, Stars, Kuswar, Decoration, Carols, Santaclaus, all these things add colour to our celebration. These also highlight very much the Birth of Jesus.

The ancient hymns which are composed to highlight the birth of Jesus elevate us to the divine and help us to experience His love and compassion for all of mankind. Jesus birth evokes diverse reactions as it is known to us by the people and events surrounded at Jesus birth. King Herod is troubled (Mt. 2/3) I should go and adore Christ the King was his talk; however he wanted to kill Jesus and wanted to make secure his power. The Chief Priests and elders were indifferent at the birth of Jesus. They verified the issues those are going around the event. However the wise men rejoice (Mt.2/10). They go to Bethlehem with gifts and are being guided by the star to have the encounter and blessing of Jesus born in the manger.

Christmas feast invites us to be in search of Jesus. Make room for Jesus in your Heart and he will make room for you in heaven is the key message of Christmas.

Still today, people honor Jesus and rejoice at his birth. There are others too claim that his birth is just a celebration. But such attitude dilutes the meaning & significance of Jesus birth.

Let us rejoice at Jesus birth and not the external celebrations, take away Jesus and his blessing from us.

Wish you a Joy filled Christmas, May Jesus born in manger lead us throughout the New Year with grace and peace.

A NEW KING WILL ARISE

Maranatha, come Lord Jesus! We are eagerly waiting for the arrival of Lord Jesus at Christmas time. While preparing for this event it is only befitting to know a few details about our Saviour's birth which was foretold centuries prior to his actual birth.

Jesus is a historical figure. Unlike any other illustrious personality, his coming was foretold in the Holy Scriptures. Many prophets had heralded his visitation, out of his filial love for his father. Isaiah, for instance, in the eighth century B. C. predicted his coming in his writings. So did the other prophets and holy men of Israel foretold about his visitation.

Isaiah in Ch.11.1 predicted "A new king will arise from among David's descendants. The Spirit of the Lord will give him wisdom."

The same prophet announces in another place Ch. 7:14 "The Lord Himself will give you a sign. A virgin who is pregnant will have a son and will name him Immanuel."

Isaiah goes further and proclaims, Ch.9:6-7 "A child is born to us! A Son is given to us! He will be called, 'Prince of peace! He will be King David's successor.'"

If you venture forth to read the book of Genesis, the very first book in the Bible, your eyes will fall on these lines: Ch 3:15 "I will make you (serpent) and the woman hate each other. Her offspring will crush

✠ Stany A. DSouza
St. Mary's Ward

your head..."

Prophet Micah, eighth century B.C., Ch 5:2, said "Bethlehem Ephrathah, you are one of the smallest towns of Judah, but out of you I will bring a ruler for Israel; he will bring peace." Jeremiah who lived in the 7th and 6th cen. B.C. "I will choose a king, a righteous descendant of David."

Prophet Malachi Ch 3: 1 "you my child ... you will go and prepare the road for him, tell his people that they will be saved."

Many Anawim, who had remained faithful to God, eagerly waited for the advent of the Saviour on earth. Many of them desired to be his mother.

The next step in the Salvific history was the choosing of Mother Mary and sanctifying her at the time of her conception.

When the right time came a virgin gave birth to a son whom they named Jesus. Since his birth was in winter the church celebrates it on the 25th of December.

Let us prepare to receive our Saviour at this Christmas time.

'Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year' to all our readers.

THE STORY OF CHRISTMAS IN CAROLS

Christmas carols are special songs sung in advent and during the Christmas season. They convey to us the message of Christmas.

I have reproduced some lyrics of Christmas carols which show us the sequence of the events that occurred during Christmas time.

Go tell it on the mountain
Over the hills and everywhere
Go tell it on the mountain
That Jesus Christ is born.

This carol is a prelude to the Christmas season telling us the birth of Christ.

Joy to the world
The Lord has come.

This carol tells us about the joy of Christ's birth.

✍ Carolyn Lobo
Fathima Ward

Silent night, holy night
Son of God loves pure light.

Tells us about the sanctity of Christ's birth.

Hark the herald angels
Glory to the new born king
Here the angels glorify Christ.

O come let us adore Him
O come let us adore Him
O come let us adore Him
Christ Christ our Lord.

This carol asks us to adore baby Jesus as the son of God.

We three kings of Orient are Bearing gifts we traverse afar
This carol is about the visit of three kings.

Then there are other carols which tell of Christmas symbols and greetings.

The Christmas polka tells about the Christmas season being jolly and the right time to dance the Christmas polka.

Thus Christmas carols really enhance the story of Christmas and bring us joy with their lilting tunes and melodies.

A TRULY "JOLLY" CHRISTMAS

Christmas is a time of fun and cheer. We retrieve our neatly-tucked-away decorations and put them on display in and around our homes. We work together as families and communities to beautify our surroundings and to prepare sweets. In doing these things we spend time with one another and hopefully grow in our relationships, thereby developing new bonds and strengthening old ones. The activities of Christmastide like parties, visits and hopefully even the Sacraments, fill us with joy and contribute to making this season joyful and exciting.

Christmas is a time of joy and generosity, but could it be that we are joyful and generous only towards our friends and family? Beginning with myself first and then observing others, I find that there exists a certain amount of selfishness during Christmas. Do we not, most of the time, restrict our sharing and joy towards friends, family and those who are good to us? If this is so then we need to heed Jesus' reproach, "If you love those who love you, what is special about that? Do not even tax collectors do as much? And if you are friendly only to your friends, what is so exceptional about that? Do not even the pagans do as much?" (Mt 5:46-47). This attitude is a subtle buzz that could kill the Christmas spirit. If not checked and corrected at the earliest, it could be very hard to weed out once it is rooted and established.

Collected by: Tressy Pinto

Perhaps, we can learn a lesson or two from the carol, 'Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer'. Rudolph was ostracized by the other reindeers but Santa chose him to pull his sleigh. Similarly, God chooses the foolish, the weak, the common and unimportant and uses them to shame the wise, strong and powerful (1 Cor. 1:27-29). It would be a shame to think that we are God's favoured ones and so we're off the hook. Such thinking could land us in a soup, like Dives, who failed to see Lazarus outside his gate. We may want to think that we are special and there is absolutely nothing wrong with that. The problem starts when we make that status exclusive. We could end up harming ourselves and others, especially the poor and less fortunate.

How can we welcome the Christ Child into our homes and shut the door in the faces of those needy who come by knocking? Did Jesus not say, "Whatever you did to these little ones, who are my brothers and sisters, you did it to me"? (Mt 25:40). Welcoming Jesus into our homes therefore means also welcoming the less fortunate. Here, I think we would do well to make an examination of conscience. When was the last time I shared something with the poor? I don't mean old clothes or leftovers. I mean something fresh, new or straight off our table? Can we make this a truly jolly Christmas by extending our joy and generosity to those who have nothing and no one? If we can do this, I believe our Christmas will take on a new radiance and warm the cockles of our cold hearts.

THE JOY AND WONDER OF CHRISTMAS

“Christ left a palace to come to a stable because he loved you and me”.

Christmas is the story of the day God took off the robes of deity, and put on the garments of humanity. The joy and wonder of Christmas is its simplicity.

What do we see in the crib?

There is Mary and Joseph. There are the Shepherds- the first Christmas folk; the humble and simple people who lived close to the things God made. The earth was the carpet for their feet; the sun and the stars above, their coverings. And the child wrapped in swaddling clothes lying in a manger. No throne for the King of kings. Only the simplicity of the divine; the simplicity which makes Christmas so wonderful.

Christmas can be a season of great joy. It is a time of God Showing His great love for us. It can a time of healing and renewed strength. Jesus is 'The Reason for the Season!'. The magic of Christmas is not in the presents, but in his presence.

Come let us adore Him... This Christmas let us bow down and take a moment from our 'busyness' to thank the Father for His wonderful gift that is the gift of His son. By seeking Christmas presence, let our focus remain on Lord Jesus Christ who is the greatest Present which God has given to all mankind.

'Merry Christmas to you all!!'

WFH VS WFO

✍ Lanlyn Dsouza
Fathima Ward

What is WFH?

Work from Home refers to work done from home rather than at an office. The notion is referred to by the acronym "WFH." Work from Home is also known as remote work, distance working or remote job.

What is WFO?

WFO refers to work from the office, where we need to physically be present in office and work.

Benefits of Work from Home (WFH):-

There are numerous instances in which a work-from-home arrangement is advantageous to both the business and the employee:

- 1) Reduced or no Commute:- In India, people travel to and from work for at least 2 hours every day on average. This not only wastes time that could be spent more efficiently but also makes it difficult to maintain a healthy work-life balance. It's normal for someone who works a regular 9-to-5 (or 6) job and spends 7% of their day stuck in traffic to feel like they don't have a life outside of work.
- 2) Better Work-Life Balance:- Most companies that enable workers to work from home (WFH) also allow them to determine their own working hours, which means that employees can start and stop their days whenever they want as long as their tasks are accomplished and positive results are produced. Controlling your work schedule is critical when it comes to attending to the needs of your personal life.

- 3) It saves money:- Working from home saves money for both the employee and the company: the employee saves money on travel, food, and other miscellaneous expenses that arise during the course of a working day, while the company saves money on energy costs and other related expenses that would have been unavoidable in a fully operational office.

Cons of WFH (Working From Home):-

- 1) Numerous distractions:- The distinction between family and work blurs at home. It is difficult to distinguish between personal and work time. Pets, children, chores, television, and even neighborhood activity can easily distract you. More work-from-home distractions and how to prevent them to ensure WFH productivity are listed below.
- 2) Information access is restricted:- One of the most difficult aspects of remote work is gaining access to information. You can't just walk into another person's cubicle and ask for feedback or specifics on a current project in a WFH scenario.
- 3) Solidarity:- You may become less social if you work from home. You share a space with where you work, dine, and sleep. When you work in an office, you can communicate with other people, but at home, it's just you. This lonesome work can make you depressed and may possibly be less advantageous to your health.

Benefits of Work from office(WFO):-

- 1) You have a well-defined timetable:- Most likely, you work from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or have a defined office schedule. This is a significant advantage when compared to remote work. Your schedule is substantially lengthier when you work from home, and you must strike a balance between your personal and professional lives.
- 2) Socialization:- You have many opportunities to mingle when working at an office. You can take a break, stroll across the building, and chat with coworkers. To keep in touch with your coworkers, several businesses host birthday and anniversary celebrations as well as social events off the clock. You can interact with people while working.
- 3) You have face-to-face communication:- Many employees prefer face-to-face interactions with their coworkers and clients. This brings them much more comfort and pleasure. Body language may teach you a lot, and it can also help you adjust your words to the circumstances. Only if you work in an office is this possible.

Considering all of these benefits, we may infer that well-organized office work is well-managed.

Conclusion:

Working from home has unique benefits and drawbacks compared to working in an office. Workplace trends have changed since the pandemic.

Consider your benefits and carefully when considering whether to work from home or in an office to determine which option would best position you for success.

ART OF LEGAL DOCUMENTATION

The fundamental requirement for an effective legal document is that it should be comprehensive and legally enforceable. Some basic parameters for generating an effective legal document that are required to be followed are discussed herein below.

A. KNOW YOUR FACTS

- Gather all facts from the client to understand the objective of the client and the purpose of the transaction.
- Never hesitate to constantly question the client on the facts and seek clarifications.
- Do your own research on the subject matter of the transaction and the applicable laws relating to the transaction - for example, if the transaction document is between two B2B (business to business) clients, understand the functioning of the B2B market, its operations, scope of establishing a B2B event etc. Domain knowledge is critical for drafting an effective and comprehensive legal document.
- Be clear whom you are representing but always bear in mind that as lawyers our assignment is to ensure the transaction does not break by being rigid on our points of view.

- Legal documents are typically a set of instructions for parties to follow in an effort to fulfil the intent of one or more parties to the transaction. Therefore, the legal document must be clear, complete and contain functional instructions to promote the client's goals and meet the requirements of the transaction.

B. PRINCIPLES TO BE FOLLOWED FOR CLEAR LEGAL DRAFTING

- Plan your document and the contents before you put pen to paper.
- Be concise and use simple positive language as against bombastic and long drawn sentences which may give room to interpretation. Concise simple sentences will provide clarity on intent of the transaction better. Do not be afraid of simplicity.
- Understand words properly prior to using them to convey the intent of the legal document.
  - a. "Shall" when used will impose an obligation but may be a future action

- b. "Will" when used will predict future action
  - c. "Must" will impose an obligation and the necessity to act
  - d. "Must Not" will clearly indicate prohibition
  - e. "Should" will infer obligation but not a necessity
  - f. "May" will indicate discretion to act.
- If any of the words are used interchangeably the entire intent of the parties to the transaction may alter impacting the transaction. So one must be very careful in one's use of the language at all times and be aware of the objective of the transaction.
  - All material facts must be captured in the legal document and we Advocates should never hesitate to reach to the client for clarification as required. Don't assume the intent of the transaction and the client while drafting.
  - Be consistent and use the same words throughout the legal document to denote same things. If any word is defined always use only the defined word with the first letter always in capital to denote the defined word - for example, if the word 'company' is defined to mean any particular entity the document at all points of reference should use the word as "Company".
  - Length of the legal document does not denote good drafting: Be comprehensive, precise and let the transaction determine the length of the document.

C. CONTENTS OF A LEGAL DOCUMENT

- The legal document should clearly spell out all the details of the parties to the transaction and provide a good preamble to the legal document which covers all aspects prior to leading to the culmination being the transaction as agreed between the parties - example, if the legal document is a sale deed relating to an immoveable property, the entire history of the immoveable property in question must be captured so as to leave no room for any doubt regarding the seller's title to the immoveable property. A good preamble is half the battle won for a good legal document.
- While legal documents will differ based on the transaction some of the fundamental requirements to be captured in a legal document are - the objectives of the transaction, the agreed determined period of the legal document to be in subsistence, the roles of the parties to the transaction, the obligations of the parties, consequences of breach, restrictive covenants if required, dispute resolution and the jurisdictional judicial forum are some of the fundamental requirements that must be incorporated in the legal document.

- If specific legal provisions must be provided for in the legal document depending on the transaction, the same must be incorporated as required. Domain knowledge cannot be over emphasised -research is the key prior to commencing any sort of drafting of a legal document.
- If a legal document is drafted with the motto "everything that will go wrong will go wrong" one can offer the solution to the wrong in the legal document itself which the parties to the transaction will be bound to give effect to and may resolve the dispute amicably within the parameters of the legal document itself.
- It is imperative to have knowledge about the important rules of law of interpretation so as to put right language in the documents, give appropriate meaning to the words and phrases used therein, and incorporate the will and intention of the parties to the legal document/ transaction.
- Legal documents require extra care while drafting and it must be ensured that contractual obligations in the legal document are not contrary to the applicable laws and general first principles of law.
- All legal documents must be valid contracts for legal purposes which are agreements between the parties coupled with enforceability and compliance with applicable laws.

D. ENFORCEABILITY OF A LEGAL DOCUMENT

- A legal document should not be a mere putting together of words in good English or any other language. The legal document must be binding, enforceable and admissible for all intents and purposes.
- All norms of the laws of contract must be met especially as relating to offer, acceptance and consideration vis a vis the transaction.
- All applicable laws specific to the transaction must be addressed and incorporated in the legal document as required and the enforceability ensured at all times.
- Prior to forwarding the first draft of the legal document to the client, a final check of the legal document should be made. If there is any "loop hole" or an issue not addressed in the legal document that might sustain a challenge in a court of law or any judicial forum, the provision must be redrafted. The legal document must be drafted and reviewed from three perspectives: a) how the client will understand and use the document b) how an opposing attorney might interpret the legal document if the transaction were to escalate into a litigation for whatever reason and c) how a reasonable judge might interpret the legal document. If the above parameters are taken into consideration while drafting the legal document, it will be comprehensive and enforceable legal document.

- Always be prepared to revise, amend and even redraft the legal document with client review and inputs. Bear in mind the transaction is more critical than the fragile ego of the person drafting the legal document and be open for inputs from the parties to the transaction.

E. CONCLUSION

- Understand the client's goals, identify and understand the purpose of the legal document, understand the domain of the transaction and research the laws concerning the transaction prior to commencing drafting of the legal document.
- For an effective and enforceable legal document avoid verbal clutter and be specific and clear in the use of words.
- Be ready to redraft, amend and revisit the legal document. Rigidity in refusing to acknowledge the scope for amendments is a great disservice to the client.
- Always remember the client wants the transaction to go through, so be flexible to negotiate without compromising your client's interests.
- Be ready to redraft the legal document if the applicable laws require and the primary goal should be to achieve the client's planning, structuring and meeting the business goals.

- Never depend on templates and archaic documents. Be specific and true to the transaction on hand and draft the legal document accordingly.
- Use the client to test the legal document to ensure it is appropriate for their business needs and the transaction subject to applicable laws.

Legal documents can be of varied kinds and types like sale deeds for immovable and moveable properties, vendor documents, business acquisition agreements, investment agreements, employee related agreements, commercial documents and deeds of all kinds. While some terms maybe standard please always bear in mind that one size does not fit all - each transaction is specific in its requirements and needs to be dealt bearing in mind the needs of the transaction.

Advocates will differ regarding techniques of arrangement, structure, sequence, and content of a legal document. However, the important thing to remember while undertaking legal drafting is to avoid ambiguity, vagueness and archaic legalese. A legal document is a form of communication of intent of the parties which must be captured bearing in mind the above discussed points.
